

ABSTRACT

A method includes maintaining in a first server unique references to content received from primary servers, maintaining an index containing the unique references to the content, and notifying a secondary server when updated content has been added to the server.

20286654.doc

T00UE300-00464560